

Senlac Challenge

20th September 2015

After a week of atrocious rain and wind we were granted a Sunday of good sunny weather and 19 degrees for the Senlac challenge this year. The course designed by our two traditional course layers Tony Fuller and Steve Joy, was laid in a style designed to “challenge” archers of both the Traditional and Modern persuasions, and by the comments of the competitors we achieved that aim, and added the additional one of fun as well. I would like to thank all those that took part, as well as all the Senlac members that helped with the course and marshalling on the day, and baked all the delicious cakes. In particular Phil and Niki Marr who ran the catering as well as designing and painting some of the target faces including the novel “Wheel of fortune” multi target, which caused quite a spin. The resulting scores were:-

The "Wheel of Fortune" Multi target

How does this work now?

No I think I should have gone for the ear ring instead too.
